New for this month is this exciting lens, the Tamron 150-600mm f/5-6.3 SP DiVC USD. With the longest reach of any zoom lens in its class, this is a great lens for wildlife photographer, as it offers an extra 100mm over its closest competitor. I can also see this lens used for sports and landscape. The lens features an ultrasonic AF motor for fast & silent autofocus, and optical image stabilization to aid hand holding. With such an amazing focal length and relatively light weight, it can bring back the joy to photography!

DIGITAL NEWS

Fujifilm X-T1 GS, X100T, firmware updates and REBATES!

Finally after a long wait, some hotly anticipated new Fujifilm cameras are in stock! First off, we have the lovely new X-T1 Graphite-Silver Edition, seen below. Then, the new X100T bodies have come in as well...

Note that we still have one beautiful silver X100S remaining in stock at an amazing clearance price of $1079!

Fujifilm has announced a set of macro extension tubes for the X-system - way cool! They are fully coupled electronically with the X-system lenses and should be available some time in December at $99.95 for the shorter MCEX-11 and $109.95 for the MCEX-16.

Despite the fact that it is not mentioned in Fujifilm's press release, nor shown on their lens compatibility chart, I have confirmed that you should be able to stack these tubes with, for example, the XF 60mm f/2.4R macro lens to get close to 1:1 magnification - by itself without tubes the 60mm only gives 1:2, so half life-size. For many lenses, stacking both tubes will likely be too much though. For example, on the XF 18-55mm zoom, using MCEX-16 by itself already results in a nearly unusable 4mm working distance at 18mm! However at 55mm, the working distance becomes a more manageable 63mm. If you were to try using both tubes, the point of focus would actually be behind the front element of the lens at 18mm although when you zoom towards 55mm, at some point I suspect the stacked pair would become useable again.

Lastly, watch Fujifilm's website for the upcoming firmware updates on the X-Pro2, X-E1, X-E2, X-T1, X-T1 GS! These updates are scheduled to be released on December 18th and there are lots of changes and enhancements, especially for the X-T1 family! Not only will the black X-T1 get all the new features introduced with the currently shipping X-T1 Graphite Silver edition, like the electronic shutter good for a crazy 1/32,000 of a second shutter speed and Classic Chrome film simulation, but both cameras will get slew of new updates like full manual control in video, more selectable frame-rates (24/25/30/50/60 fps), Q-menu customization, metering-area/focus-area interlock option, variable size area during MF when AF is activated by the rear focus button, direct macro mode selection and much more!

Finally, starting on November 21st and running all the way until January 8th, 2015, there are lots of new Fujifilm rebates. Here are some highlights...

NOTE! Since we are open for Boxing Week this year (see exact hours on the cover of this newsletter) we will also be having some great in-store specials on selected items. Keep an eye on our blog - beauphoto.blogspot.com where we will be posting the deals on Boxing Day morning!

Newer, Faster Memory

Lastly, in early December we should finally be receiving stock on the new, super fast Lexar Pro 1000x and 2000x UHS-II (U3) SD memory cards, perfect for capturing 4K video or rapid buffer clearing for still images and the newer cameras that support these high performance SD cards. Naturally you can use these new fast cards on older SD capable cameras too since they are UHS-I backwards compatible. The 1000x will support up to 150 MB/sec transfer speeds and the 2000x up to a blistering 300 MB/sec! Note that the new 2000x cards will also include a dedicated new UHS-II compliant USB 3.0 SD card reader for the fastest download speeds to your computer. Later in December (is my guess), there should be a separate new Lexar Pro dedicated SD UHS-II card reader available for purchase, although the exact ETA on that is a little up in the air...

Consignment Bags

We have a number of consignment bags that we are continuously getting in and I encourage you to come down and take a look at what we have. Often they are older bags that companies are no longer manufacturing but they still serve their intended purpose well and are in great condition. We generally try to only take in bags that look almost like new and include their original accessories and straps. Sometimes they even still have the tags on. They are usually very reasonably priced as well, as the price is set by the consignee. The bags can really range from small to large, and sometimes we also have metal cases or parts for bags like straps, belts and clips.

Here are a select few of the bags we currently have...

Think Tank "Reporter Kit", belt with attachments.

In very good condition and the Lens Changers all have their all-weather covers still as well. Great for when you are carrying your body with a lens attached or are in changing conditions that you need another lens or flash quickly and easily. $150.00

Think Tank Digital Holster 40 $45.00

Includes: Digital holster 40 that fits full sized DSLR with standard zoom lens attached. Pop-down feature allows for a bit of extra room for lens hood or slightly longer lenses. Almost new condition with strap and all-weather cover included. Missing one piece of the inner Velcro foam.

LowePro Magnum 400 AW $199.00

Nice, large 'toolbox' design. New condition...still has original tags attached!

LowePro Orion Trekker $20.00

Includes: LowePro Orion Trekker backpack with inner padded dividers. This bag is divided into two parts and is great for a day pack. The bottom, padded section is zippered off from the top, softer section. Bottom holds DSLR with 1-2 smaller lenses. Top section is not padded and would be great for everyday accessories, and also includes a smaller outer pocket. Older bag but in good condition. Great deal for the price!

LowePro Vertex 200 AW $60.00

Includes: LowePro Vertex 200 large backpack, with inner padded dividers, tripod mount and all-weather cover. This large backpack has a lot of room for full sized DSLRs and various lenses plus many extra exterior pockets for accessories. Its main compartment is very well sealed to the elements as its zippers are specially designed to not allow in rain. Well-loved exterior but still in good condition.

KATA WS-606 $125.00

Includes: KATA WS-606 shoulder kit bag, all-weather cover and inner padded dividers. This large kit style or 'toolbox' style camera bag is basically new, as it still has its original tags attached. It is deeper than most shoulder bags and will hold larger pro DSLR cameras with quite a few lenses and accessories. It has large pockets on the sides for more accessories and a very well protected front compartment to ensure everything stays safe. This bag also has hard feet on the bottom so it sits slightly off the ground and would be great for outdoor shoots.

Crumpler 7 Million Dollar Home Grey/Red with Green Interior $110.00

Includes: 7 Million Dollar Home shoulder bag, shoulder strap and interior padded dividers. This shoulder bag is one of Crumpler's largest shoulder bags and could hold one or two large DSLRs with lenses attached or one body with lens attached and several extra lenses or flashes. Very good condition, like new.

Crumpler 7 Million Dollar Home Black/Grey with Green Interior $99.00

Includes: 7 Million Dollar Home shoulder bag, shoulder strap and interior padded dividers. This version of the 7 Million Dollar home would have been an older version than the aforementioned grey/red one, as it is slightly smaller and a different shape. It is longer in width and not as deep top to bottom as the newer version. It is a well-loved bag on its exterior but clean and in good condition. Would hold a DSLR with a shorter lens attached and one or two extra lenses.

These are just some of the used bags we have on hand, come in to see the full selection.

Presentation Products

BARB B.

It's beginning to look a LOT like Christmas! I love this time of year.. most everybody's in a good mood, there's happy music, pretty lights and yummy treats!

I'm quite well stocked with a good variety of presentation products including mounts for portraits with the big guy in the fuzzy red suit, but if you need a really large volume of anything, please let me know as soon as you can. I've placed my final stock orders for the year, but I'll be happy to send your requests in. It's possible we might have to bring orders in via expedited freight - which will add a bit to your cost - but you'd have your goods!

It's at this time of the year that I ask you all to review the way you've been presenting your images, and think about how you'd like to proceed in the next year or so.

The big questions:

- whether you're more interested in offering proof books, CD's/ DVD's or USB sticks to your clients, and your vision of how you'd like to showcase them
- whether you'd prefer to present photos in folders or boxes, or if you're considering an infusion of colour into your products

Please phone or email me: barb@beauphoto.com. I'll be happy to request samples, provide price quotes, lead time required, etc.
