Fujifilm

Fujifilm has a few nice rebates on for Black Friday and beyond, starting on November 22nd and running to December 26th.

Note that there is a rebate for the GFX 50R, as well as the original X-T3. However the GFX 50R is no longer available for us to order and we are out of stock. We already have the new version of the X-T3 in stock, the one with the USB charging option) and that is slightly less expensive than even the rebated price on the previous generation ($1,375 for the new one versus $1,400 for the old one with rebate), which is why we are not listing those rebates here...

Fujifilm X-T4 Body (Silver or Black) - $1,900
(reg. $2,300)

Fujinon XF 23mm f/1.4 R (original)
Sale - $900 (reg. $1,200)

Fujinon XF 50mm f/1.0R WR - $1,650 (reg. $2,000)

If you are wondering why there are no X-T4 lens kits on sale, I think it is because Fujifilm, just like many other companies, is having a hard time sourcing parts for lenses, so the XF 18-55mm and the XF 16-80mm are hard to come by at present. However I could be wrong...

Tested! Fujinon XF 33mm f/1.4 R LM WR

I recently had an opportunity to work with a preproduction sample of the new Fujinon XF 33mm f/1.4 R LM WR, thanks to our local Fujifilm sales rep. This new lens could be considered a replacement for the venerable XF 35mm f/1.4 R, the original fast “normal” prime from back when the X-Pro1 first came out. However, not only is the focal length ever so slightly different, but it is not actually a replacement since Fujifilm is not discontinuing the older XF 35mm. Indeed, there are many fans of the old 35mm f/1.4 since it has quite a wonderful “character” for portraits, even though it is not be the fastest at focusing, nor is it weather resistant.

The new XF 33mm is in many ways similar to the new XF 18mm f/1.4 which I wrote about in a previous newsletter. These new lens designs are geared towards future, high megapixel X-system cameras and feature remarkably well corrected optical systems. Like the 18mm, the new 33mm seems near tack sharp into the extreme corners, even when shot wide open at f/1.4 and has minimal optical distortions, although it certainly does suffer from some vignetting at the widest apertures. The build quality and feel of the aperture ring are fantastic as well. I was most impressed with my tests of this new lens, and for more detail, please read our blog posting here: <https://www.beauphoto.com/tested-fujinon-xf-33mm-f-1-4/>

To see some photos taken with this new lens, see the extensive sample gallery here: <https://www.beauphoto.com/portfolio-item/fujinon-xf-33mm-f-1-4-r-lm-wr-samples/> and please remember that those samples are from a preproduction copy of the XF 33mm f/1.4. Ilford Delta 3200

Sale - $14.02 for 35mm, $10.26 for 120

I love how it lets me shoot freely in Vancouver weather. It's liberating! With its fine grain, you can even push it to 6400.

Beau Gift Guide 2021

It's that time of the year again where we accidentally go over budget in getting gifts for our loved ones by somehow mistaking the Z9 for the Z7. We have a lot of things here at the store for your photography loving person of interest, from small to big to absolutely massive, and we have some suggestions for you here!

Tote Bag

Starting with a Beau Photo classic, we have cute little tote bags here, including some by local artist Deanna Flinn and great ones from PhotoEd magazine highlighting some important Canadian female photographers. We've included them in past year's gift guides for good reason, they're easy, you would ideally use them a fair bit just to carry around little things, and they're affordable! At $25 and $28 they're a no-brainer.

Expensive film

How we like to think of expensive films is when they're breaking the $20 mark per roll. This includes the Kodak Portra series, Cinestill films and slide films like Fujifilm Velvia or Kodak Ektachrome. What they offer over cheaper films is usually something along the veins of finer grain and natural colours (Portra), unique qualities (Cinestill) or a whole different experience (slide films!). Get a few rolls, save them for a special occasion!

An intro to film developing workshop

We can show you how to develop film at home, it's not that difficult. Be careful, it might make them want to shoot film more! Our resident Kathy will be glad to show you how for a mere $49.99.

A fancy camera strap

Ah, the thing that prevents your precious camera from hitting the pavement. A rope one like the Wolf straps or the leather Burke Mountain Leather ones that will age very gracefully like an old belt or a pair of expensive boots. It's not the most fun but its likely one of the more useful ones around here. They'll think of you every time they go shooting!

An entire digital camera! Complete with a lens and everything!

As we only specialize in higher end gear around here, this will cost you a pretty penny. But hey, if life has treated you well financially and you've worked hard to be where you are today, maybe channel that good energy into someone else. That being said, there are a few excellent entry level kits for you to put under the tree, or houseplant.

Books!

Sadly we don't sell books here despite me trying to convince everyone to try selling them. But hey, go support a local independent book store and get a nice photo book! Or any book, really.

Fujifilm Instax Camera

Instant memories come in tangible prints that you can fit in your wallet (if you get the Instax Mini, otherwise your wallet must be huge). They come in three sizes, and you can get the film in a lot of places these days, including here at Beau. Take photos on Christmas day and give away the photos!

Decorative cameras from a hundred years ago.

They usually still work if you want to go through the hassle of shooting them. It's a miracle that they've survived multiple wars and generations of people, only to potentially end up at the end of your bookcase to hold up your books. Some of them are cheap, too!

A camera speed date with Nicole!

She can yell at your loved one about how terrible they are at photography and how amazing the latest seasonal donut is at Lucky's. Price is negotiable.

A dozen donuts that isn't Tim Hortons for the lovely staff at Beau Photo. And make sure they're filled donuts too, thanks!

Some Black Friday Deals on Used Film Cameras!

Not for the faint of heart! For those of you who like to tinker we have a few Black Friday 4x5 folding fixer uppers and one 35mm special for you!

No.1 on the list, selling for a mere $150, the very unique B&J View 4x5 camera and it has a big 'ol chunk of Zeiss Jena Tessar 19cm f.5 glass. The reason it's a "Fixer Upper" is because like any old lens it could use a CLA. It's blushing red, too.

No.2 on the list is a bit more common, the Graflex Speed Graphic 4x5*. It has a regular Ektar 127mm f4.7, a ground glass and one film holder*. This is a "Fixer Upper" as well because the lens is in need of a CLA, its rangefinder will need alignment and to be perfectly frank, it might actually have a few other repair Easter eggs hidden within it! It is listed for $150. *Note this camera only takes Graflock 4x5 backs.

No.3 on the list is priced at $100. For that you get a Graflex Speed Graphic carcass w/ a "23" Graphic back. This camera carcass is fully functional, however like all these old beasts, the rangefinder will need alignment.

No.4 on the list is a Canon TX 50mm f1.8 combo. This camera is a 70's classic, though because of its age the slow shutter speeds could use a tune up. For $60 this "Fixer Upper" could be yours.

These are being sold as "Fixer Uppers" because I thought they were all too cool to just rip apart for parts!

38th Annual North Shore Photographic Challenge

A competition for BC and Yukon Photographers
Hosted by the North Shore Photographic Society.

Date: Saturday, March 5, 2022
Keynote: 4:30pm Show 7:00pm

What is the North Shore Photographic Challenge?

This open-theme competition showcases the latest digital techniques in abstracts and altered reality, classic landscapes, portraits, nature and architectural compositions, and gritty, funny street photography. Over the past thirty-seven years, the Challenge has become recognized as one of the premier photographic competition in Western Canada and it is open to all BC and Yukon Photographers.

Unlike many image competitions, where you only get to see the the winning images, the NSPS Challenge is open for viewing, allowing you get to see all the images and their scores.

Historically, the Challenge has been held in a large theatre. In 2021, it went on-line, allowing the organizers to expand the program by adding a Keynote Presentation, and to make the show accessible to all participants and other fans of photography, regardless of where they live. The virtual show was so well received it will be held on Zoom again in 2022. Our Keynote Presenters for 2022 are two of BC's most talented nature photographers, Connor Stefanison and Jess Findlay.
